18/57/NAC Q4 Policing and Safer Neighbourhoods report Mr Taylor asked for a clear protocol regarding the Council and Police powers with dangerous dogs.	Nick Kester	Email response from Nick Kester 28/7/18 With regards to the issue relating to dangerous dogs, this is a responsibility of the police, Cambridge City Council have a statutory duty to deal with abandoned dogs and to enforce the Public Spaces Protection Orders which cover: dog exclusions zones, dogs on leads areas, dogs on leads by direction and dog fouling, issues such as dog on dog attack, can be dealt with by the dog warden service, however our powers are limited to education and advice. Dog attacks on people are automatically fall within the jurisdiction of the police. Under section 1 of the Dangerous Dogs Act 1991, Possessing, breeding, selling, exchanging or advertising a prohibited dog (There are only 4 types of prohibited breeds: Pit Bull Terrier, Japanese Tosa, Dogo Argentino and Fila Brasileiro). This offence carries a sentence of up to six months' imprisonment. Also allowing a dog to be dangerously out of control (s3 Dangerous Dogs Act 1991) - This offence is wide ranging; it applies to all breeds/types, not just prohibited breeds (a common misconception) and can be

		committed in a public or private space (including your own home or garden). It also applies to both the owner and the person in charge of the dog (if different). This offence carries a sentence of up to six months imprisonment and an unlimited fine, although if it is aggravated then the penalties are significantly higher: if death is caused, the penalty is up to 14 years' imprisonment; if a person is injured, up to five years' imprisonment; and three years' imprisonment for an aggravated attack on an assistance dog. this also includes banned breeds (as above) under the Dangerous Dogs Act 1991. Item could be taken off the committee action sheet.
